

I urge you to allow the manufacture of TVs and components that don't honor an over-the-air "dont copy" bit. I am someone who owns two DVRs and watches perhaps twenty shows a week. My DVR allows me to record the show and watch it later when I have the time or inclination. If I decide the show is a keeper, I record it onto a vhs tape.

This is all for my personal use. Regulate all you want against high volume piracy, but allow for fair and personal use of content that reaches me using our airwaves.

Sincerely,
Allen Smith
